AGRICULTURAL CLUB CAMP AT BEREA

One of Biggest and Best in State
There July 18-22, Says R. F.
Spence

Everything is ready for one of the biggest Club Camps in the state at Berea, reports County Agent, R. F. Spence, of Berea. All club members from Madison and Rockcastle counties will attend. The best location, the best water, the best speakers, the best eating, the best sleeping, the best games and plays—in fact the best of everything—will be at the Berea Junior Agricultural Club Camp for our club members and club leaders.

The Camp opens Monday July 18 and closes Friday morning, July 22. All club members and leaders are urged to attend this camp. It will mean more to our young people than the same number of days in school. The camp is a university—the very best of instructions will be given.

Leaders—Adults

Parents should not hesitate to let their boys and girls attend this camp. It is strictly Christian. No smoking, no chewing, no swearing, no ugly stories will be allowed on the ground. There will be an adult person for every 10 or 12 club members. The camp will be well guarded at night.

Visiting Day

Wednesday, July 20, will be visiting day in the camp. Parents of club members and friends are asked to visit camp on this date and spend the entire day observing what has been done and being done by our clubs. Visitors will be welcomed each evening from 7 to 9. During these two hours there will be a short sermon by a minister, for 30 minutes, after which the campfire activities for 1-2 hours.

Poultry Culling Demonstration

Perhaps you don't know that one-third of your hens are loafers. Don't let them fool you any longer. A free demonstration on how to tell the loafers will be held by County Agent Spence and A. S. Chapin, Specialist, State College of Agriculture, on the following dates:

Monday, July 25 at 2:00 p. m.—J. H. Gentry farm near Speedwell.

Tuesday, July 26 at 8:00 a. m.—A. B. Strong farm near Scafield Cane Rural Demonstration School, Dixie Highway.

Tuesday, July 26 at 10:00 a. m.—W. C. Viras farm near Rockford, on the Dixie Highway, on Scafield Cane Ridge.

Tuesday, July 26 2:30 p. m.—W. C. Johnson farm near Orlando, on the Cove Branch road.

Everybody interested in poultry of any breed is invited to attend and learn how to cull out the loafers or non-producing of the flock. These four culling demonstrations will be all that can be held at this time. This is an opportunity for poultry raisers which only comes once in a while. Bring your questions and let's discuss them together with Mr. Chapin, our poultry specialist.

Black Leg

Black leg is a fatal disease to young cattle. It is common to calves and cattle under two years of age. It was once regarded as a form of anthrax, but investigations have proven that it is a specific disease, produced by a germ quite different from that of anthrax. The disease is spread over quite a large part of the west and some parts of the east and south.

Prevention

As a prevention, all susceptible animals should be vaccinated with black leg vaccine, which is a safe and reliable prevention. In sections where the trouble prevails, the young cattle should be vaccinated a month or so before it is time for the trouble to occur and as it occurs at slightly different times in different localities, the time for vaccinating will vary some—some time during early spring or early summer.

College Head's House Robbed

Danville, Ky., July 11—Jewelry and clothing valued at more than $300 were obtained by burglars at the home of Dr. M. M. Allen, president of the Kentucky College for Women.

TURK NATIONALISTS HAVE A JOAN OF ARC

(By Associated Press)
Angora, Turkey, July 12—A Turk Joan of Arc, Aishe Tanum, has started a woman's fighting brigade against the Greeks.

Her organization called the Kain brigade, has already taken part in active fighting and she is constantly enrolling new recruits. This is the first time in Turkish history that a woman has been so militantly active. She has been fittingly dubbed by the people of Anatolia, "The Conqueror." Her personality is in distinct contrast to the beautiful Halide Edib Hanum, the writer and graduate of the American Constantinople College, who has been so active in Nationalist politics for two years and fled to the interior in March, 1920, to escape imprisonment by the Allies.

Aishe Hanum is a stern, dark woman of the soil, aged 52, who sees visions and believes she is inspired by the Prophet. She wears a veil but has cast aside skirts. She carries a rifle and when not at the front goes through the villages accompanied by her 15-year-old son, urging the peasants to contribute food and money and their able-bodied women to cast out the enemy stranger from the homeland.

As Nationalist soldiers, the uniform of the Kadiri Brigade corresponds to that of its leaders.

Indirectly, Aishe Hanum is doing as much as Halide Tanum to emancipate the Turkish women. When she began her work, the Turkish men, who dislike to have women interfere in politics, tried to force her to return to her farm. But, by the courage born of her visions, Aishe Hanum has continued until she is recognized as an aid to the Nationalist cause.

FARM GIRLS IN DOMESTIC CLASSES

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., July 12—Farm girls of Kentucky are no longer isolated and denied those things which gladden the hearts of their city sisters, according to Miss Irene Piedalue, field agent in foods for the College of Agriculture, who reports that there are more than 4,600 girls in the state receiving instruction in various home economic subjects through the co-operation of the college extension division and county home demonstration agents. Of this number 2,152 are conducting clothing projects, 879 food projects and 1,272 canning projects. Clothing projects are divided into three parts, according to Miss Piedalue. There are beginner, elementary and advanced. In the beginners' class the girls are given instruction in the most simple and best methods of making garments; in the elementary class they are taught to make their own clothes, while the advanced class work takes up in detail the instruction given in the two previous classes.

Food projects likewise are divided into three classes which take up in detail the problems of preparing and serving meals and different dishes. The canning project girls are given instruction in better methods of canning fruits and vegetables in an effort to help them become successful in this phase of home work.

"Perhaps the reason for the greater interest in sewing is the fact that it is easier to obtain equipment for this project than it is for cooking," Miss Piedalue said. "In most of the counties the club meetings are held at the schools and these usually have little or no equipment for domestic science instruction. Another reason may be that the girls' clubs originally were organized as canning clubs ten years ago and the girls naturally welcomed a decided change of work when the clothing projects introduced."

This form of activity for country girls has been found to be a valuable one in Kentucky. In the rural communities the home economics work in the clubs together with the other incidental activities takes the place of the home economics work in the city schools and supplies a means of profitable and wholesome recreation which otherwise would be denied girls in rural districts.

PARLIAMENTARY LAW COURSE AT EASTERN

Mrs. William Cromwell, Legislative Monitor, Comes Here To Give Instruction

Mrs. William Cromwell, of Frankfort, the best known woman parliamentarian in the south, has been engaged to give a series of lectures and demonstrations at Eastern Kentucky State Normal School.

Mrs. Cromwell will begin her work here Tuesday, July 12. It is understood. The exact hours of her lectures will be announced by President Coates.

President Coates has invited the ladies of Richmond who may be interested in the subject of parliamentary law to visit the classes which will be conducted by Mrs. Cromwell during her stay here.

Mrs. Cromwell has had extensive experience in the legislatures of Kentucky, and is thoroughly conversant with the rules of parliamentary law and practice. The courses which she will conduct are offered for the benefit of the student body of Eastern Normal primarily, but are open to anyone else who desires to take advantage of them. In these days when citizens are taking a wider and more intelligent interest in such affairs, it is well for everyone to know something of how parliamentary bodies are organized.

The state's contention that she tried to poison him, was first attacked. An undertaker testified he used a hardening powder on the internal organs of the slain man. Mrs. Kaber was more cheerful today. Mrs. S. A. McGinnis, sister of the accused woman, expressed the opinion that Mrs. Kaber was insane when Kaber was killed. She said her eyes at times had a wild look.

LEIGON NEWS

"Bloody." A new "Benzine Board," will sit at "Bloody" this summer. "Bloody," more correctly spelled Blois, is in France and is familiar to every member of the A. E. F. It was at Blois during the war that the mysterious institution of the United States army known as reclassification board had its headquarters. The reclassification board in the army parlance was the "benzene board."

A summons to "Bloody" might have meant the inconvenience of arising at sunrise to be shot at or it might have meant a promotion or a demotion. The uncertainty was dreadful. Given a choice a soldier would have selected no man's land to Blois any time.

It will be different this summer. The new "benzene board" will be composed of members of the American Legion party sailing from New York August 3 for a tour of France as guests of the French government. There will be 250 Legionnaires in the party representing every state and every branch of the former A. E. F. The party will be led by Franklin D'Olier, former national commander.

The Legion delegation will go to Blois to attend the dedication of the statue of Joan of Arc, a gift of the Joan of Arc Committee of New York City. And while at "Bloody" the Legionnaires will invade the old headquarters court, of the reclassification board, and stage a burlesque on the famous "benzene court." The entertainment is even now selecting a cast and writing the lines for the burlesque.

HEN SPECIALISTS HERE JULY 25-26

Culling Demonstrations To Show Difference Between Loafers and Laying Hens

(By Associated Press)
Lexington, Ky., July 12—Culling demonstrations to help farmers of the state tell the loafers from the heavy-laying hen will be held in more than 54 counties prior to September 12, by specialists from the Extension Division of the College of Agriculture in co-operation with county farm agents. ## HARDING SAYS HELP DISABLED

(By Associated Press)

Washington, July 12—Enactment of the Soldier Bonus legislation at the present moment would "greatly imperil the financial stability of our country," President Harding told the Senate today in an address. Every obligation we owe is to disabled and dependent soldiers, the President said, and the executive branch owed it to the country to "frankly state the difficulties we daily are called upon to meet and the added peril this measure will bring. This menacing effort to expend billions of dollars in gratuities will imperil our capacity to discharge our first obligations to those we must not fail to aid."

The country has had its share of financial chaos and industrial depression, he said. The first things necessary, he said, are revision and reduction of internal taxation, refunding the war debt and adjustment of foreign loans.

Paint Lick Chautauqua Is A Sure Winner

The Chautauqua at Paint Lick opened Monday night with a program rendered by the Musical Arts Quartet. The program was entirely satisfactory to the large crowd of about 400 that attended the opening night. The quartet sang many popular songs both of the present and past time. Much enthusiasm is being shown in that section of the country due to the Chautauqua and it is sure to prove a brilliant success. On the whole the program rendered Monday was a howling success and it is quite possible that the text of the programs will be, also.

The negro denied that he had stolen the horse or had attempted to sell it. TERCENTENARY OF PILGRIMS' LANDING
Opens Wednesday At Plymouth Rock—Scenes of Early History Depicted
(By Associated Press)
Boston, Mass., July 12.—The pageant, depicting scenes from the legends of the Norsemen, through the Pilgrim fathers and down to the World War, celebrating the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims here, tomorrow night will open with a fan fare of trumpets.
Then speaks a voice from the rock, which is illuminated, but where no human being is visible.
"To me the Pilgrims come," the voice declaims, after reciting the transitory visits of traditional Norsemen and of English, French and Dutch adventurers. The prologue concludes:
"Of me, the rock in the ooze, they have made the cornerstone of the Republic."
Scene after scene follows passing from the Norsemen crossing the harbor in their galley and fighting with the Indians on the shore, to authentic history. The visits of early explorers, including John Smith and Champlain, are depicted in tableaux, concluding with a view of an empty and desolate stage symbolizing the great pestilence which swept many of the Indians from the vicinity shortly before the year of the Pilgrims' arrival.
The scene shifts to England, where the struggles of the Puritans for the right of independent thinking and worship are portrayed. The Pilgrim Fathers, themselves then appear at Scrooby, planning their migration to the Netherlands, and later enjoying Dutch tolerance and hospitality.
Next comes the departure from Delfshaven for the New World, followed by the signing of the Compact in the cabin of the Mayflower, the landing at Provincetown, on the tip of Cape Cod, on November 25, 1620, the final landing at Plymouth, the dealings with the Indians, the hardships of the first winter and the return of the Mayflower, leaving behind the remnants of the little Pilgrim band.
Two more scenes of Pilgrim life in Plymouth and then Governor Bradford is seen writing his chronicles. The lights go higher and in swift succession are revealed Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt. A warlike clash in the orchestra and the rulers of modern Germany, Turkey, Austria and Bulgaria cross the stage. Out in the harbor a light gleams on the Mayflower. Conveyed by the Pilgrims and the Dutch, the forty-eight state flags are brought to view. The voice from the rock cries:
"The path of the Mayflower must be kept open."
One final chorus, with pageant ground and harbor ablaze with light, then the stage darkens. Only the light on the Mayflower remains. From the rock come the immortal words of Lincoln, combined from separate utterances "With malice toward none and charity for all, it is for us to resolve that this nation under God shall have a new birth of freedom."

TERCENTENARY OF PILGRIMS' LANDING
Opens Wednesday At Plymouth Rock—Scenes of Early History Depicted
(By Associated Press)
Boston, Mass., July 12.—The pageant, depicting scenes from the legends of the Norsemen, through the Pilgrim fathers and down to the World War, celebrating the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims here, tomorrow night will open with a fan fare of trumpets.
Then speaks a voice from the rock, which is illuminated, but where no human being is visible.
"To me the Pilgrims come," the voice declaims, after reciting the transitory visits of traditional Norsemen and of English, French and Dutch adventurers. The prologue concludes:
"Of me, the rock in the ooze, they have made the cornerstone of the Republic."
Scene after scene follows passing from the Norsemen crossing the harbor in their galley and fighting with the Indians on the shore, to authentic history. The visits of early explorers, including John Smith and Champlain, are depicted in tableaux, concluding with a view of an empty and desolate stage symbolizing the great pestilence which swept many of the Indians from the vicinity shortly before the year of the Pilgrims' arrival.
The scene shifts to England, where the struggles of the Puritans for the right of independent thinking and worship are portrayed. The Pilgrim Fathers, themselves then appear at Scrooby, planning their migration to the Netherlands, and later enjoying Dutch tolerance and hospitality.
Next comes the departure from Delfshaven for the New World, followed by the signing of the Compact in the cabin of the Mayflower, the landing at Provincetown, on the tip of Cape Cod, on November 25, 1620, the final landing at Plymouth, the dealings with the Indians, the hardships of the first winter and the return of the Mayflower, leaving behind the remnants of the little Pilgrim band.
Two more scenes of Pilgrim life in Plymouth and then Governor Bradford is seen writing his chronicles. The lights go higher and in swift succession are revealed Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt. A warlike clash in the orchestra and the rulers of modern Germany, Turkey, Austria and Bulgaria cross the stage. Out in the harbor a light gleams on the Mayflower. Conveyed by the Pilgrims and the Dutch, the forty-eight state flags are brought to view. The voice from the rock cries:
"The path of the Mayflower must be kept open."

Summer Complaint in Children

There is not anything like so many deaths from this disease now as before Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy came into such general use. When this remedy is given with castor oil as directed and proper care is taken as to diet, it is safe to say that fully ninety-nine out of every hundred cases recover. Mr. W. G. Campbell, of Butler, Tenn., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for summer complaint in children. It is far ahead of anything I have ever used for this purpose." July

Here's Your Answer, Dr. McVey

President Franklin McVey, of State University, has been offered the presidency of the University of Missouri, at an increased salary. He tells the Lexington papers he doesn't know just what to do about accepting or rejecting the offer, which is an attractive one. He seems at sea as to what the people of Kentucky are going to do about the $8,000,000 extension plan that he has mapped out for the University of Kentucky. As he expresses it, "I am at a loss what the state is going to do."

Well, there's no use keeping President McVey on the ragged edge about this thing. So out of the kindness of its heart, the Daily Register is here and now going to tell him just what the people are going to do.

They are NOT going to vote $8,000,000 more debt and taxes on themselves right at present for the State University or anything else.

So if that's what's delaying McVey's decision, he can probably make up his mind mighty quickly. At least that's the way the Daily Register sees this thing and that's what a lot of the very best men and women, the bone and sinew of this and many other communities have been saying ever since the extension program for the State University was announced from Lexington.

Not that Kentuckians aren't proud of their State University. Not that they wish to hamper it and its great work for the youth of this fair commonwealth. Not for a minute. They want to do everything in reason. They have given liberally to this institution out of the depths of their pockets. They have seen the State University lobby present at every session of the legislature almost since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, asking for more, more, more. It usually got what it wanted.

But just at present we do not believe that the taxpayers will stand for further appropriations for any state institution that simply does not have to have it to exist. Taxes are piling higher and higher every year. The State Tax Commission slaps a raise on almost every county in the state every time it gets a chance. Is there a farmer or landowner anywhere who is paying less taxes this year than he did in 1920 or 1919? If so, no one has found him. The people are sick and tired of increased taxes. Politicians promise to reduce them before they get into office at Frankfort and then forget it immediately afterwards.

And the report is going about the state even now that the State University is "getting out" candidates for the next legislature to help put over this $8,000,000 plan. This may or may not be so, but the rumor is circulating nevertheless, that quiet pressure is being brought to bear in many sections to have graduates of the University who might be inclined to be liberal with in the way of state appropriations, announce as candidates for the next General Assembly.

These and others are a few of the reasons why the temper of the people of Kentucky is such just at present that they won't stand for any additional eight million dollars debt for even so worthy an institution as the University of Kentucky. We may have gauged the temper of the people wrongly—but we will have to be shown differently.

Dr. McVey is going to find if he stays in Kentucky and pushes his extension plan now, that he's selected the wrong time. He'd best bide a wee, and, perhaps, when normalcy reduces the farmers' taxes like it has his wheat, tobacco, cattle, and other crop prices, the taxpayers of Kentucky may be more inclined to give an attentive ear to his call for $8,000,000 of their money to help the State University fill the great destiny he sees before it, with adequate financing.

OIL MEN SEE

BETTER TIMES AHEAD

Gasoline Consumption Increases But Surplus Oil In Storage Is Greatest In Ten Years

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., July 12—With the value of Kentucky oil production down to approximately one million dollars a month, less than one-third of its value of 18 months ago, oil men in the Kentucky fields are looking for "better times ahead," which many profess to foresee.

"Well informed oil men don't think there will be a radical change quick," Howard R. Levick, Jr., manager of the Associated Producers Company's operations in this state, said today, "although we feel that the oil business in due time will be back in its stride."

There are a number of reasons for the price being the lowest in more than ten years, he said. Importation from Mexico is running around one-half million barrels daily, figures show, production in the United States is greater than it has been in some time, and the market for refined products is almost at a standstill. The surplus oil in storage is said to be greater than at any time in a number of years.

Gasoline is the only product that is being consumed to any extent. Consumption in May of this year, increased about ten per cent over the same month last year. This is considered a normal increase, Mr. Levick said. With prices for the crude product quoted at 90 cents a barrel for Somerset and $1 for Somerset light, producers cannot realize a profit, Mr. Levick declared. About fifteen months ago the Somerset grade was bringing $4.50 a barrel, with some refiners paying a premium in addition.

Pipe line companies have restricted their runs until every tank on a farm must be filled before the oil will be moved, according to Mr. Levick. Consequently, he said, additional loss is entailed by the producer through evaporation. The light oil in Kentucky evaporates rapidly and it is said as much as ten per cent of a tank will be lost if it stands for any length of time.

There is comparatively little new production being brought in, Mr. Levick said, because of the low prices. Wells are being drilled only where necessary to hold leases. Old properties where the wells are affected by water and wells that are under vacuum are being pumped to save them, he said.

The falling off in the use of lubricants has contributed largely to the slack business. Every idle freight car, it is pointed out, means that one-half gallon of lubricant less is being used daily.

Commenting on the recently added government tax on Mexican oil, Mr. Levick said that even though it would affect Kentucky to a small degree, the state's production is such a comparatively small part of the total of the country, it is not very noticeable. The state, he said, produces an average of twenty-five thousand barrels a day, while the nation's daily output averages about one and a quarter million barrels.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarettey aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

KIDNEY and BLADDER TROUBLES CONQUERED OR MONEY BACK

For 10 years, said Dr. Carey, I have been prescribing Marshroot for kidney and bladder sickness and now that I have retired from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price, on the money back if dissatisfied plan.

"Beware of kidney diseases—thousands die of it every year who might be enjoying the blessings of life and health. Watch the symptoms. If you have specks floating before the eyes, puffy eyes, clammy feet, or moist palms backache or sideache, you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's Marshroot right away."

It has wonderfully benefited tens of thousands of cases of kidney and bladder troubles and is the medicine you can always depend upon. Results are guaranteed.

Hotel Men Want National Tourist Bureau

Chicago, July 12—The creation of a National Tourist and Travel Bureau, to be under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior, to exploit the scenic wonders and places of interest in the United States, encourage travel in America through publicity in this country and Europe, and further the good roads movement, will be one of the proposals to be made at the convention of the American Hotel Association, held here tomorrow and lasting until July 16.

French Wine Export Increases

Paris, France, July 12—An increase in the exportations of wines and liquors from France in the first quarter of this year compared with the same period in 1913 is a surprising discovery. In the meantime France has lost two of her biggest customers for wines and brandies, Russia and the United States. Of the brandies and liquors Germany took about half, Argentina, Turkey and England followed in their order.

METHODIST WIN FROM PRESBYTERIANS

| CLUB              | W | L | Pct  |

| Methodists        | 2 | 7 | .285 |
| Catholics         | 2 | 7 | .285 |

The Methodists came out of the cellar Monday by defeating the Presbyterians on Normal Field to the tune of 15 to 8. They were out-hit but errors, base on balls, and hit batsmen helped them win as well as good playing. John Parks won his first game after playing in hard luck the first part of the season. He pitched a strong game and helped win his game with timely hitting. Parks has been slapping the ball lately and is one of the Methodist's most dangerous men with the willow. He sent a screamer to left field for three bases in the ninth that drove in two runs. In the sixth he threw only three balls, each being knocked right at a waiting fielder.

Saunders played his usual nice game in short field, handling nine chances without an error, and making a timely double in the first. He captured a pop-up in the first after a long run toward the box. Stone handled Hutchins' bunt perfectly in the first and Hanger pulled a fine stop in the second.

Winkler smote one to the distant part of left field in seventh for three bases, and led his team in hitting with three bingles in four times up. He played a very ragged game in the field, making a total of five errors.

The Presbyterians scored six of their eight runs in the second, which was the only inning that Parks did not seem to have control of the enemy. In the third after letting the first man up get as far as third he struck out the next three men.

Well, they have come out of the cellar again but will return to that place if they lose to the Baptists Wednesday.

SHE TOOK HER FRIEND'S ADVICE

Now is in the Best of Health Because she took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Mich.—"I was not feeling well for several years and never was able to eat any breakfast and always complained of a headache or tired feeling which at times required me to stop my work and rest. I have never had a physician and never took any medicine for it until yours was recommended to me by a neighbor whom I used to visit frequently. I took four bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I am in the best of health and enjoy doing my work every moment of the day. It surely put life and 'pep' into my system."—Mrs. L. M. DARRAS, 46 Howard St., Detroit, Michigan.

It is not always in business that a woman is forced to give up her work on account of ill health. It is quite as often the woman who does her own work at home. When backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, when that bearing-down sensation attacks you, when you are nervous and blue, the one great help for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MARION LILLY LEADS

CHURCH BATSMEN

First Christian Backstop Tops the Hitters With Hembree, of Baptists, Close Second

Most of the Church League batters have been slowed up a bit in their slugging but some are still plugging 500 and over. Marion Lilly, the star backstop on the First Christians, is leading the wheel bunch in the swat race with a lofty average of .571. He has not been able to play in the last three games with his team, however. In the last three games Hembree has raised his average from .520 to .556 and is running a close second. Yader has an average of .538 which is good for third position. Here are the figures:
